CBIA Promotes Joaquin Pons to SVP of Political Affairs and Communications

The California Building Industry Association (CBIA), the leading voice for housing in California, is pleased to announce that Joaquin Pons has been promoted to Senior Vice President of Political Affairs and Communications.

"Joaquin is a seasoned strategist with deep industry and institutional experience, having played a critical role in CBIA's success in the 2022 election season. The board and I recognize the powerful impact he has made on our organization during this extraordinary political time," stated CBIA President and CEO, Dan Dunmoyer. "His political awareness and professional experience enables him to unite a variety of groups and organizations in a manner that holds true to our values, communities, shareholders, and the environment so we can help California achieve Housing for All," Dunmoyer added.

Pons will continue to be responsible for developing and leading CBIA's political strategy and external communications programs.

Prior to working for the California Building Industry Association, Pons spent more than 10 years leading the California Correctional Peace Officers' Association's political program. He has served as CBIA's Vice President of Political Affairs and Communications since 2018.

About the California Building Industry Association

The California Building Industry Association is a statewide trade association based in Sacramento representing thousands of member companies including homebuilders, trade contractors, architects, engineers, designers, suppliers and industry professionals in the homebuilding, multi-family and mixed-use development markets. CBIA members build nearly 9 out of 10 new housing units built in California, including charity homes, legally defined as affordable housing, middle-class market-rate housing and luxury homes.
